

Andrew Davis, MRED

Advisor, Project Management

Portland

Professional Experience

Andrew is an experienced project manager with six years of expertise in entitlement, underwriting, land development, and construction projects. With a keen focus on active communication, efficiency, and time management, Andrew is committed to delivering projects on time and within budget.

Andrew's expertise lies in his ability to manage and streamline all aspects of a project, from inception through completion. His proactive approach to communication ensures all stakeholders are kept in the loop and that any issues are addressed quickly and effectively. He's known for his strong focus on efficiency and time management, ensuring that projects stay on track and that no detail is overlooked.

As a passionate advocate for tenants, Andrew takes great care in ensuring clients' needs and expectations are met, concerns are acknowledged and addressed, and the stress of the project is taken off their plate. His ability to balance the needs of all parties involved, from clients to contractors to architects, has led to successful outcomes across the board.

Currently, Andrew's primary focus is managing Cresa's active and future tenant improvements and build-to-suit projects, where he is responsible for overseeing the planning, coordination, and execution of the every step of the process from inception to move-in. His dedication to delivering value, maintaining clear communication, and ensuring efficient execution makes him an invaluable asset to any project he manages.

Education

Auburn University, Master's degree in Real Estate Development

Univeristy of Oregon, B.S. in Economics

Contact

971.350.7411 office
951.751.2895 mobile
adavis@cresa.com